

To the Surfside neighborhood from your ASADA Surfside

The employees and board of directors of ASADA Surfside would like to welcome you to our first official newsletter!

We would like to share information about your ASADA so that all of us that live in Surfside know what the ASADA is currently doing and what our future plans are. Since this is our first newsletter, let's start with the basics of what the word ASADA means and what an ASADA does.

ASADA is an abbreviation in Español: Las Asociaciones Administradoras de los Sistemas de Acueductos y Alcantarillados Comunes

In English: Administrating Associations of Sewers and Aqueducts.

An ASADA is defined as the Administrative Association of the Communal Aqueduct, which arises from an agreement between several neighbors, who permanently pool their knowledge and/or activities to cooperate in the administration, maintenance, operation and development of a communal aqueduct, becoming a private organization providing a public service, by delegation of the AyA, non-profit, governed by the Law of Associations No. 218.

AyA: ASADA's work under a delegation agreement given by the Costa Rican Institute of Aqueduct and Sewer.

What is the mission of ASADA Surfside?

Ensuring access to drinking water and sanitation in a committed and responsible manner with health, water resource sustainability and sustainable community development.

Our vision is to be an authorized operator which stands out for its good service, effectiveness, efficiency, and compliance with the legal and operational requirements demanded by the governing body.

In future issues we will introduce you to the employees and their positions in the ASADA.

In the meantime, if you have any questions, you can contact Liz or Linda via email at:

newsletter@asadasurfside.com

The frequency of publication will depend on your reaction, your questions, and your interest. Above all, don't be embarrassed, we are here to answer your questions whatever they may be.

Liz and Linda
ASADA Surfside Board Members

